Tests Shed No Light On Foundling

A-J Correspondent

BIG SPRING — "Inconclusive," is what Big Spring police termed evidence uncovered through testing bloody towels in connection with the abandonment of a baby in a trash container here two weeks ago.

The towels were sent to a Houston pathologist to determine whether they might link a suspect to the baby.

An official report of the test will not be available until later this week, police detective A.N. Henry said.

Henry, however, added he learned verbally that the test "didn't prove and didn't disprove" the validity of the items tested.

Sheets found on a country road near here are to be sent to Houston now for testing, Jack Jones, police detective captain, said Tuesday.

The healthy baby girl was discovered July 17 in a trash dumpster of an apartment complex.

Welfare officials have placed the baby in a temporary foster home here.

Scout Receives Merit Badge In Conservation

Duane Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Jones of 5305 Englewood Ave., has earned the new World Conservation Award, according to an announcement by Bob Bouse of the South Plains Council of Boy Scouts of America.

The award is made by the Wildlife Fund of Washington, D.C., through the Boy Scouts of America. The award recognizes achievement in environmental improvement, natural resource conservation and an understanding of world conservation problems.

Jones is in Troop 406 of Lubbock, sponsored by St. John's United Methodist Church. To win the award, he earned Conservation and Environmental skill awards and merit badges in Environmental Science, Soil and Water Conservation, Fish and Wildlife Management and Citizenship in the World.

'Small' Family Has Employment Woes

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Steve Nerden hopped onto a sofa with its legs cut off and said the only problem with being 4 foot 2 is getting a job to support your family.

"We don't figure we're handicapped . . . we just figure it's hard to get a job," Nerden said about himself and his 4-foot-tall wife of three months, Patricia.

"You have to prove yourself to everybody. Most people won't give you a chance," he said.

Nerden is 21 years old. 10 days older than his wife. He's working as a janitor at the Boulder County Human Resources Department, earning $18 a night with the promise of morning work in the future. Mrs. Nerden can't find work, although she was trained as a pediatric nurse's aide in her home town of Rawlins, Wyo.

"She wants to get something working with kids. Like she says, kids are scared of a big lady in white but not of a little person," Nerden said. "The problem is that apparently not many people agree with her."

The Nerdens have had trouble holding jobs in the past. He was trained as a jeweler, like his 4-foot-tall father in Denver, but he says he had difficulty polishing silver without burning his fingers and lost that job. Both Steve and Patricia once worked on a ski manufacturing assembly line, but those jobs disappeared because their small arms didn't adjust to the line and they couldn't work as fast as their coworkers.

'Tories' Call For Return Of 'Colonies'

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Now, upon ground once trod by Patrick Henry and Thomas Jefferson, comes a counter-revolutionary band of loyalists who would finally return prodigal America to the forgiving arms of Mother England.

Already these latter-day Tories have collected 583 and counting the support of 159 U.S. citizens who envision a happier life in a colony restored. If only another 200 million or so sign up, their petition may be ready for the Queen when she arrives for a Bicentennial visit next July.

Otherwise, the Bicentennial will be nothing but "a big fake, a piece of propaganda trying to cover up the mistakes we've made," says John T. Ambrose, co-founder of the Commitee for Reunion with England.

"It's time we realized that the Revolution was nothing more than the self-serving acts of a bunch of hotheads and caused a lot of problems for this country which now can be corrected only by reunion."

According to the committee's Declaration of Reunion, the corruption and injustice which have troubled America's 199 years could have been avoided if the rebels had only been patient enough to work within the system.

It noted, for example, that slave trade was abolished in the British Empire in 1807, "two score and 15 years" before the Emancipation Proclamation.

If only the colonies had stayed in line, there would have been no Civil War, no Reconstruction and no Ku-Klux-Klan, it adds.

"World Wars I and II would never have occurred. Germany would never dare attack a British Empire that included both sides of the Atlantic Ocean. The American Revolution not only betrayed America, but also Mother England, may the entire civilized world," it says.

Not that Ambrose and his collaborators are looking for revenge.

"Mother England is kind and just," the declaration says. "If we apologize now and promise not to rebel any more, she will go easy on us. Americans and the present officials of this rebel government. There would be no fear that President Ford, members of Congress or the Supreme Court will be sent to prison."

Naturally there cannot be unconditional amnesty, however. "They have made mistakes and must pay a penalty . . . perhaps a period of alternative service in the Bengal Lancers."

The committee was organized back in March when Ambrose, an advertising writer, and David A. Gambill, a Richmond bank employe, decided the bicentennial was, on the whole, boring.

"It's lacked a sense of humor, any real comedy," said Ambrose. "So we got out a mimeograph machine, took an ad in the Richmond Mercury, rented a Post Office box and sat back to watch the fun."

The Times of London published an article on the committee noting both its plea for contributions and its mailing address. That netted about 20 letters from Britain and a check from one Londoner for 20 new pence — enough to buy two copies of the Times.

Previously, Notturno was affiliated with the Norden Division of United Aircraft Corp., Norwalk, Conn., and ARMA, a division of American Bosh Corp., in Long Island, N.Y.

Notturno and his wife, Jeanine, have three children, Billy 16, Jill 9, and Beth 13.

Girl, 15, Reports Attempted Rape

A 15-year-old girl has reported to police an assault which occurred in the 3600-block of Avenue J about 10:25 p.m. Monday.

The girl told police a Mexican-American male, about 16 years old, grabbed her and held a knife to her throat.

Police were told the assailant intended to rape the girl until a nine-year-old girl accompanying the victim began to cry "real loud."

The assailant fled on foot, running east on 37th Street, the report indicated.

Oilmen Bypass Gulf Leases

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The Interior Department offered 245 Gulf of Mexico tracts for lease by oil companies Tuesday, but the oilmen bypassed oil but $6.

Observers said it was one of the smallest offshore lease sales in years. They said the acreage offshore from Louisiana and Texas, drew little interest because of its distance from shore and its unknown potential for oil or natural gas deposits.

The highest bid of the sale was Pennzoil Offshore Gas Operators' offer of $13.6 million for a 5,000-acre tract 120 miles south of Cameron, La. The bid broke down to $2,732 per acre.

All bids will be studied by the Interior Department and those which it considers below fair value can be rejected.

Weicker Says Press, Public Awash In Watergate Apathy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., embittered by the lack of reform of the wake of Watergate, Tuesday accused Congress, the press and the public of inviting future mischief by forgetting the scandal too soon.

Weicker said it is high time something is done — pointing out that none of the 88 Watergate-related bills introduced in Congress has passed.

"How's that for a two-year congressional record of straight, cheating not the greatest scandal in the history of United States politics and government?" he said.

He also said he is "deeply disturbed" that there has been no real justice for those involved in the scandal.

"Justice has been delivered two ways — one way to the powerful and the strong and another way to those who are weak and have no political advantage," Weicker said as hearings opened on legislation to fend off future abuses of power.

Weicker was a member of the Senate Watergate Committee and also sits on the Senate's Government Operations Committee, which is considering a political reform bill based on recommendations of the Watergate panel.

It would, among other things, set up an office of public attorney, independent of the White House and the Justice Department, to investigate and prosecute abuses of power in the executive branch.

Weicker also criticized the public for "continuing to invite political mischief" by staying away from the polls in record numbers, and accused the press of failing to keep digging into government wrong-doing now that Watergate is over.

Former Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., who was chairman of the Watergate committee, declined to testify on the reform bill. But the vice chairman, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., did appear —cautioning against going too far.

"There is a danger that in trying to rectify the problems of Watergate we will diminish the authority of the presidency," Baker said. "We should not fundamentally change the relationship of the presidency, the Congress and the courts.

Baker said a permanent, independent prosecutor might be unconstitutional and suggested instead a division of government crimes in the Justice Department to deal with illegal acts whether found in the executive, Congress or the courts.

State Nonprofit Malpractice Surety Proposed

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas Hospital Association officials said Tuesday they hope to set up their own nonprofit insurance company in time to provide malpractice policies for 75 hospitals facing cancellation Sept. 1.

O. Ray Hurst, president of the association of 675 Texas hospitals and health care institutions, said hospitals cannot afford rates such as Argonaut Insurance Co. of Menlo Park, Calif., is charging and may be left without insurance even at excessive rates.

"We are hoping that at the very latest coverage will be available by Oct. 1," C. Dean Davis, association attorney, said. "We've got to try to be available Sept. 1."

Freeze Move Blocked

Glenview Hospital in suburban Fort Worth already has been notified its insurance will be canceled Sept. 1, Davis said.

"We have some idea that 75 hospitals are going to be in that same kind of mess," he said.

Argonaut won a court suit July 21 blocking attempts by the State Insurance Board to freeze rates and prevent policy cancellations for 90 days. The California company said it will cancel Texas hospitals' malpractice policies if the state board does not approve base rates of $358 per patient bed.

Sees Reduced Rate

Hurst said Argonaut's proposed changes are exorbitant and would cost some hospitals more than $2,000 annually for each patient bed.

"Patients in this state should not be asked to pay $2 to $8 a day so that hospitals can provide malpractice insurance," Davis said. "We're not interested in being in the insurance business but we're not interested in paying excessive rates either."

Harry Stuth, the association's insurance consultant, said the hospital association's reciprocal insurance company should be able to provide coverage at 15 to 40 per cent less than hospitals are being charged presently.

Stuth said the lowest rate should be less than $160 per patient bed.

"A few years ago many hospitals were paying less than $40 a bed," Hurst said. "Now they're paying more like $800."

Argonaut's base rate only last year was $63 per bed.

Hurst said the hospital association's insurance company would provide coverage at rates because it would be nonprofit, it would be based entirely on Texas claims experience and deal solely with hospital insurance.

Other advantages, Hurst predicted, would be quick compensation for patients injured by malpractice and rejection of spurious claims.

Davis said the hospital association will file its application for approval to form its own insurance company this week and expects quick action by the State Insurance Board.

Taxpayers Still Flocking To Board Session

City-school tax equalization board hearings were continuing to pack ten in Tuesday at the tax office at 1001 Texas Avenue.

The 13-member board was having considerable discussion with some taxpayers concerning an erroneous report that taxable value assessments are based on 60 per cent of tax office appraisals when the figure is really 66 per cent.

Tax officers were busy explaining that the resulting assessment is supposed to be about 60 per cent of market value.

The tax office waiting room continued to be full as several of the approximately 12,000 northwest and south Lubbock homeowners whose assessments have been raised as much as 100 per cent argued for reductions.

The hearings will continue through Friday, from 9 a.m. to noon and 1:30 to 5 p.m.

Music Copyright Complaints Hit Two Businesses

Copyright infringement complaints were filed late Tuesday in U.S. District Court here seeking to enjoin associates of two Lubbock businesses from performing certain musical compositions.

The Saddle Brote Club at 915 50th St., Sandra Kay Gordon and Jim Gordon were named in complaints jointly filed by Broadcast Music, Inc., Arc Music Corp., Combine Music Corp. and the Coconut Grove Music Co.

A separate complaint named the Westernaire Lounge at 4805 Ave. Q and Wilburn Roach in similar proceedings filed by Broadcast Music, Inc., Acuff-Rose Publications, Inc., Combine Music Corp., Lady Game Music, Jondura Music and Buckhorn Music Publishers, Inc.

The plaintiffs allege that they are the exclusive licensees of a number of musical compositions and are asking the court to enjoin the defendants from "performing publicly for profit" any one of several selections.

Phone Rate Hike Okayed

DIMMITT (Special)—The city has agreed to a 75 cent rate increase for residential phones and a larger increase for business phones on a request from Continental Telephone company.

The new rates are reflected in telephone bills Dimmitt residents received last week.

New base rates are $7.50 for a private residential phone, up from $6.75; $6.50 for a two-party residential phone, up from $5.75; $15 for a private business phone, up from $12.50; and $13 for a two-party business phone, up from $11.

The company had originally requested base rates of $8 for private home phones and $16 for private business phones.

Although the city commission is not responsible for rural telephone rates, commissioners got the company to agree to hold the rate increases on rural phones to 75 cents also.

Boy Convicted In Theft Case

An eight-woman, four-man jury Tuesday convicted a 13-year-old boy of theft after deliberating the state's case several hours in the span of two days.

The defendant, found guilty of theft of a woman's purse here March 18, will appear Monday before 140th District Court, Judge William R. Shaver to hear disposition of the case, court sources said.

Jurors deliberated the matter for several hours late Monday after testimony ended and returned Tuesday for additional consideration before reaching a verdict.

Theft Case Trial In Final Phase

Final arguments will begin at 9 a.m. today before 140th District Court Judge William R. Shaver in the state's theft case against Willie Humphrey, Jr.

Humphrey, 21, of 2405 E. Bates St. was indicted by a grand jury March 12 for the alleged theft of a television set one week earlier from an East Lubbock residence.

Testimony, which began Tuesday morning and ended Tuesday afternoon, was endorsed by Lubbock police officers before the prosecution and defense rested.

CHILD AID VOTED

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House voted Tuesday to authorize more than $1 billion over the next two years to step up federal aid for teaching handicapped children.
